If you are able to spare an hour or two to help over the next couple of weeks (any time or day), please contact Karen Belt (karen.belt@lynmore.school.nz) or give Mary-Anne a call.

Kia ora koutou,

My quick visit to China was an amazing cultural experience. I now have a better understanding of some parts of Chinese culture. They are very big on “Manaakitanga” (hospitality), and I was so grateful to our hosts in the five cities that I visited. I went from Auckland to Beijing, then to Shanghai, Hangzhou, YiWu, Jinhua, and back to Beijing again.

A Glimpse into Jinhua's History

Among the cities I visited, Jinhua in Zhejiang Province stands out with its rich history and cultural significance. Jinhua's history spans over 2,000 years, with its origins tracing back to the Qin Dynasty. The city has played a crucial role throughout various dynastic periods in China. During the Tang and Song dynasties, Jinhua was an important regional centre, known for its flourishing commerce and culture. Jinhua is also celebrated for its culinary heritage, particularly the renowned Jinhua ham. I actually tried this and it was delicious. This delicacy, which dates back to the Song Dynasty, is known for its distinctive flavor and traditional curing methods, making it a prized ingredient in Chinese cuisine.

Education and the arts have long been integral to Jinhua's identity. The Lanxi Academy, established during the Northern Song Dynasty, was a prominent centre of learning, attracting scholars from across China.

In addition to Jinhua, I had the incredible opportunity to visit Hengdian World Studios in Dongyang, a nearby city. Hengdian World Studios is the largest film and television production facility in the world, often referred to as the "Hollywood of the East." It was fascinating to see the various film sets, which recreate iconic locations from different periods of Chinese history. Walking through these sets felt like stepping back in time, providing a unique glimpse into the rich tapestry of Chinese historical and contemporary cinema.

Today, Jinhua and its neighboring regions, like Dongyang, are vibrant areas that blend ancient past with modern development. They continue to be centers for culture, commerce, and entertainment, making them fascinating places to visit and explore.

Take a look at some photos of my visit to Dongyang Experimental Primary School, 3000 students where I signed a Sister School agreement with them.

My journey through these cities, especially Jinhua and Dongyang, has deepened my appreciation for the rich history and cultural diversity of China. I look forward to sharing more of my experiences with you all.

Screening for students...

As a school, we are working to remove as many barriers as possible that impact on student learning.

Within our school, this looks like carrying out on-going screening to look at characteristics relating to various needs (including, but not limited to, dyslexic characteristics, reading, writing and math barriers, Irlens characteristics and auditory/visual characteristics).

If any characteristics or barriers from these screens need to be further delved into, we will be in contact with you.
