LYNMORE SCHOOL VISION STATEMENT

We strive to inspire a lifelong passion for learning. Our approach is rooted in championing teaching excellence and providing a diverse range of learning opportunities in an engaging environment.

Drawing on meaningful connections to our hauora, whenua, iwi, hapū and whānau, we empower our students to become compassionate and well-rounded individuals.

A special welcome to our Chinese students who have been visiting us for the week.

We have really enjoyed having four teachers from Nagano, Japan visiting our school this week.

They have been moving around the classrooms, teaching and sharing with our children.

They have also enjoyed visiting some of the wonderful Rotorua tourist attractions.

It will be sad to see them go.

FROM THE PRINCIPAL ...

Tena koutou katoa,

Thank you to our parents from Hinemoa 5 and parents of our Principal's awards who were able to adapt to our request of an earlier Community time last Friday. We really appreciate your flexibility to enable us to share the bespoke teaching and learning opportunities we have for your tamariki. We really wanted to take the opportunity to share much more than the Structured Literacy or BSLA agenda that is being pushed out across the media. The minister Hon. Erica Stanford enjoyed her quick visit to us and told us she learned so much.

New Maths Curriculum

A new week, and a new announcement about change in education, this time in Maths. The announcement last week from the Prime Minister referred to the decline of Year 8 maths achievement recently. The announcement stated that only 22% of Year 8 students were achieving at or above the curriculum expectation. This was followed up by discussion in the media about the way this figure was put together and the data used. Accuracy is important in maths after all! Without being defensive, it must be acknowledged that this data was formed on a very small sample size in (42 schools and 833 children nationwide) based on assessments against the newly refreshed curriculum which is still in draft form and has different benchmarks. The students hadn't been taught from this curriculum. There was other data that the PM could have used which would have been a better representation of current Year 8 maths achievement.

The most accurate tool for countrywide assessment is NMMSA which assesses a bigger sample size from a mix of schools. This was last done for Maths in 2022. The NMMSA report showed there was little to no decline in Year 8 maths achievement from 2013 to 2022. PISA is often held up as a measure of achievement analysis as it ranks our students against their peers across the OECD nations. In Maths, New Zealand ranks in the top quarter of these countries.

Of course I share the PM's view that we would all love all children to be achieving at the appropriate level, or higher. Is there more work to be done - yes! Would we like more resourcing for professional learning - always!!! Like all curriculum areas, some tamariki find maths easier to grasp than others. What we do know is that the "one size fits all" teaching approach does not work with children, as they each have different prior knowledge, learning styles, strengths and needs. I can assure you that at Lynmore School, we do everything in our power to help those that need extra help and support in Maths, and across the curriculum.

Our end of year Lynmore School student achievement data from 2023 showed 97% of our students were working at or above the expected curriculum level in Maths. There is always room for improvement and we are always open to new research, professional guidance and so on, but our own school picture is markedly different from the one being reported in the media recently.

Our teaching staff will be unpacking the new draft Maths curriculum over the coming weeks, all 91 pages of it, and submitting feedback before the end of the consultation period. At first glance, there appears to be aspects of it which are an improvement on the previous curriculum, but there are equally as many aspects to it that are concerning and will require deeper analysis. As with all changes in education that successive governments have initiated, we as teaching professionals, will unpack them and evaluate them, as to their their benefit to our students, who are, after all, what we are here for.

While it may feel like we are unsure of what change is coming next, our guiding strength we have at our school is our vision - "We strive to inspire a lifelong passion for learning. Our approach is rooted in championing teaching excellence and providing a diverse range of learning opportunities in an engaging environment. Drawing on meaningful connections to our hauora, whenua, iwi, hapu, and whanau, we empower our students to become compassionate and well-rounded individuals" (as on our front page).

This is what we will continue to focus on

I hope you all have a fantastic weekend.

Kupe Whare Ako

0	Rachel	Aroha	Rachel, you are encouraging, supportive and kind to others. You are always willing to help and work well with your peers. You show curiosity and ask lots of great questions. Thank you for all of your help with keeping our class tidy. You have had a great start to school. Keep up the awesome mahi. Ka rawe!
1	Elsie	Integrity	For continuing to show amazing resilience and support in both the class and the wider school. Your consistency has been amazing, staying true to yourself and always doing the right thing when nobody's watching. Keep up the great work Elsie.
2	Emily	Aroha	For the way you are with your Kupe 2 class mates. You are always kind and considerate of others and always put others before yourself. You continue to do the right thing, even when no one is looking, and guide others when they are needing it. We are lucky to have you in Kupe 2.
3	Avery	Curiosity	For the way you are always exploring new ideas, asking questions and jumping into all our different learning activities. You are always noticing the world around you and making interesting connections such as our native trees and birds! You are a superstar and we are lucky to have you in K3!
4	Angus	Integrity	For the way you continue to rise to the challenge with your consistent work ethic. Whether it's tackling a challenging task or working on everyday learning, you bring focus, determination and a positive attitude. Your mature approach to learning and self motivation are excellent skills to have, Angus. Kupe 4 are lucky to have a role model like you!
5	Ian	Curiosity	For the way you have shown courage to keep trying, recognising when you have made a mistake and being keen to fix it especially in literacy tasks. You have a great sense of humour and are beginning to use this in your writing.
6	Elsa	Aroha	For the aroha shown towards our Chinese students this week. Your patience, kindness, and gentle nature shines through in everything you do. Elsa, you approach every task with dedication and consistently show respect for others. Keep up the fantastic work. We appreciate the positive difference you make in Kupe 6.
6	Irihapeti	Courage	For demonstrating courage and aroha as a helpful teammate at the Winter Sports Day. Iri had a cheerful attitude despite having to swap teams; she demonstrated excellent leadership and was always looking for ways to assist others on and off the court, giving her all throughout the day. It was amazing to see her shine in her element while playing netball. Keep up the amazing effort, Iri!

Hinemoa Whare Ako

0	Finn	Integrity	Finn it is hard to choose a value to give you your certificate for as you are often displaying many traits of all of our school values. I have chosen integrity because you have an innate drive to do the right thing. You are naturally a caring and inclusive friend and you have an intrinsic want to listen and follow instructions so you can further your learning. You are an absolute pleasure to have in our class Finn for so many reasons. Keep being you!
1	Corbin	Curiosity	I love the way you are developing your thinking skills within new contexts, Corbin and taking initiative in the way you create learning challenges for yourself. You are working hard on your reading and writing skills at the moment and I can see that this is giving you that sense of pride that comes with success - I'm proud of you! Nāna tāna mahi!
2	Leo	Integrity	Leo, you have been working really hard to be a role model in our classroom. You are actively trying to do the right thing and encouraging those around you to do the right thing too. It is great to see your enthusiasm towards your learning in all your subject areas, even when things are tough - you still give things your best effort and have a great attitude. Keep up the great work Leo!
3	Hamish	Curiosity	Hamish, your inquisitive mind and thirst to learn is infectious! You carefully examine and question your surroundings and investigate curiosities prompting lots of critical thinking and discussion within our class. You're hooked on learning, and the enthusiasm you share supports others to be curious also. Keep being curious!
4	Warwick	Curiosity	For the way you engaged with the Newton Cradle during science and gave a full explanation on how you believed it worked. You were also fascinated by all the different insects in resin. It was lovely to see you so engaged in your learning and so willing to share your views. Keep up the great effort Warwick.
5	Chase	Courage	Chase, you are a superstar! You have worked really hard this year to join in with our classroom activities and to keep going with challenging tasks. You did an amazing job performing on stage as a spider and a heart. All your practice and focus really showed, and I'm so proud of you!
6	Findlay	Curiosity	For demonstrating a remarkable curiosity and enthusiasm for learning. Fin's inquisitive nature and eagerness to explore new ideas inspire others and drive his continuous growth. Fin consistently seeks to deepen his understanding, asking insightful questions and approaching challenges with a positive and open-minded attitude. Keep up the amazing mahi Fin!
6	Lucas	Courage	For demonstrating exceptional courage and leadership by leading the school community. His confidence, poise, and ability to engage the audience made the event a great success. Lucas took on the challenge with bravery. Your leadership has set a positive example for others, and we commend your willingness to step up and step outside your comfort zone. Well done, and continue to lead with courage and confidence!

ICAS EXAMINATIONS 2024

Our ICAS examinations are nearly upon us and begin next week. Please read through to check the dates and how these exams will work.

ICAS exam dates:

Science - Tuesday 20th August

Spelling Bee - Thursday 22nd August (students will need their own headphones)

Maths - Thursday 29th August

Time: Where possible the exams will run in the first block between 9-11am.

Preparation: It is great to see that many students have taken the opportunity to borrow practice booklets. Just a reminder that this can be returned and swapped for new booklets if this helps your child's preparation.

Additionally, we also highly recommend that students have a go at the sample tests on the demo site (<https://www.icasassessments.com/icas-preparation-tools>) for each subject they are doing. This will help them learn to navigate the types of questions that they will encounter. Students must select the correct paper for their year group:

Year 4—Paper A

Year 5—Paper B

Year 6—Paper C

What is needed on the day: Students will be provided with a school iPad that is loaded with the necessary software for the exam. Students must provide their own headphones if they are sitting the Spelling exam.

Screening for students...

As a school, we are working to remove as many barriers as possible that impact on student learning.

Within our school, this looks like carrying out on-going screening to look at characteristics relating to various needs (including, but not limited to, dyslexic characteristics, reading, writing and math barriers, Irlens characteristics and auditory/visual characteristics).

If any characteristics or barriers from these screens need to be further delved into, we will be in contact with you.
